Subject: 18ISCMP-invitation

Dear Prof. Čelebonović,

The Organising Committee has the pleasure of announcing the Eighteenth School on Condensed Matter Physics Challenges of Nanoscale Science: Theory, Materials, Applications .

The forthcoming venture will be held 1 - 6 September 2014 on the Black Sea coast near the city of Varna, in the resort of St. St. Constantine and Helena.

The programme will comprise approximately 35 invited review lectures (each of 40 minutes total duration), plus extensive poster sessions and general discussions.

On behalf of the School Chairman acad. Alexander G. Petrov and the whole Organizing Committee I invite you to become a member of the International Program Committee as well as to give a talk at 18ISCMP.

We hope that your schedule for 2014 will allow you to participate and will be very grateful if you suggest names of prominent scientists in the field who can also deliver lectures at the School. In view of the lack of external support to this School, the established practice which kept ISCMP intact during all these years is, that invited lecturers normally pay some registration fee (for details see the Web site: <http://iscmp.issp.bas.bg/>).

We are looking forward to hearing from you soon.

Kind regards,

Marina Primatarowa
Scientific secretary of 18ISCMP
